LISSELAN, CLONAKILTY, WEST CORK

TO CORK
(N71)

“ The fourth hole, (now seventeenth), is described in the brochure as 'one of the most beautiful and demanding holes in World Golf' which would be a ridiculous exaggeration if it weren't true. Its a 483 yard par five across the salmon-rich river Argideen into a ravine of wooded gardens and again across the river to a domed green sitting below the formal gardens of the chateau. To reach the green you have to haul yourself across on a raft. No words can do you justice to a place of such charm.”
